Mike Kramer from Krueger Middle School is NSARTA's 2014 Professional Enhancement Scholarship Winner.

Mike Kramer, the Robotics Teacher at Krueger Middle School, was NSARTA's 2014 Scholarship winner. He had no previous training on the software program necessary for illustrating his robotics projects. Although he could manage some of the student's software and his students have placed in state wide competition, Mike felt that he could enhance his students understanding and that his teams would be much more competitive if he could fully use the computer support programs. His request was for assistance to attend the National Robotics Institute at Carnegie Mellon University.

Proud parents join Mike and the students as he receives his scholarship. Michele Bibb chairs NSARTA’s scholarship committee.

Mike Kramer is second from the left. Mike successfully completed the course and is now back in his classroom. He says his students are building robots and soon they will have all the software on Krueger’s system to get them moving.
